 - Pioneer Aviator Lee Fish Celebrates 100th Birthday
 - Birthday
 - On December 16, 2003, one
 - hundred aviation heroes were honored
 - as part of the First Flight Centennial
 - Celebration at the Wright
 - Brothers National Memorial at Kill
 - Devil Hills, NC. One of the honorees
 - was Oklahoma's own Wiley Post.
 - The "100 Aviation Heroes" list
 - was compiled by North Carolina's
 - First Flight Centennial Commission
 - and lists ten aviators for each decade
 - from 1903 through 2003.
 - Wiley Post's entry from the list is
 - reprinted below.

- “In his plane the Winnie Mae,
- Post (1898-1935) was the first person
- to fly solo around the world, and
- was considered one of the most cel-

- tors, including Burrell Tibbs, Sam
- Coffman, Benny Griffin, Wiley Post,
- and others. He was present in 1933
- when Wiley Post returned from his solo
- flight around the world.
- Besides aviation, Lee Fish was interested
- in many other things. As a Boy
- Scout in high school, he developed an
- interest in radio, earning a merit badge
- in electricity and getting an amateur radio
- license. After high school, he was
- active in ham radio, worked for commercial
- radio broadcasters, and opened
- a radio repair shop. During WWII, he
- worked in electronics at Tinker Field and
- later became an electronics teacher in
- the Oklahoma City vocational education
- program.
- Along the way, Fish traveled all over
- the U.S. and much of the world, including
- Central Europe, Northern Europe,
- the Mediterranean, and the Mid-East.
- His love for documenting his travels
- never abated— he has over 7000 slides.
- Already enshrined in the Oklahoma
- Aviation Hall of Fame, Fish is due to be
- further honored by the Oklahoma Historical
- Society, who plan to create a permanent
- exhibit that will be a reproduc-

- The 2004 Best of Show winner in
- the Tulsa Air and Space Museum's
- (TASM's) 5th annual "A. Blaine Imel
- High School Art Contest" is Jenks High
- School 10th-grader Shelby Woods. The
- competition, held April 22, attracted
- 162 entries from students in grades 9-
- 12 of area high schools. All entries addressed
- the 2004 theme "Where Dreams
- Take Flight," showing mankind's beauty
- and inventiveness in the quest for flight
- and space travel.
- Shelby's piece entitled "Sectional
- Chart" demonstrates the connection
- between the earliest Wright Flyer and a
- F-16 fighter jet and is painted on a navigational
- chart that highlights women's
- role in aviation. As presenting sponsor,
- Southwest Airlines awarded Shelby two
- airline tickets. Shelby's art teacher Brian
- Arneecheer, Jenks High School, received
- $100. Shelby's picture will be featured
- on the museum's 2004 holiday greeting
- card and 2005 note card. Packages of
- previous winners' note cards are available
- for sale in the Museum gift shop;
- all proceeds go to support future art
- competitions.
- The contest honors Tulsa architect
- A. Blaine Imel, a WWII fighter pilot,
- TASM Board Member, and TASM volunteer.
- Twelve schools participated in 2004,

- including Booker T. Washington, Jenks High School, Tulsa Tech – Sand Springs, Grace Christian School, Memorial High School, Metro Christian Academy, Skiatook High School, Trinity Art School, Tulsa School of Arts & Science, Victory Christian School, and home school students taught by private teachers Pat Crume and Ruth Vesanen. A total of 12 winners were announced, two in each of the following categories: Watercolor and Pastels; Oil and Acrylics; Computer Graphics; Drawings; Mixed Media; and Sculpture and 3D.
 - Arneecheer said, “The TASM show integrates other areas of study into the art classroom, including physics, engineering, and history. People often take for granted the skills of talented individuals who make art. When you see students like Shelby Wood with her inner desire and strong work ethic being rewarded, other students desire to be in her place. It makes teachers continue to face difficulties with the realization that we are not alone and that kids are definitely worth our personal sacrifices.”
 - This is a unique event for youth because students are awarded cash prizes: $75 for 1st place, $50 for 2nd place and $25 for 3rd place. The event is not a fundraiser for the Museum and all proceeds go to underwrite the event. Barbara and Allen Smallwood, Dr. and Mrs. William Ross, and Southwest Airlines were presenting sponsors. Apollo Patrons were Triangle Company, Ray and Jenks Student Wins Art Contest
